Goof on the Roof

As part of WKLK's requirement to broadcast in the public interest Mar. 22 they held their Annual Goof on the Roof campaign. This event is where Kerry Rodd and Jake Kachinske raise money and food for the food shelf at the Salvation Army.

While they were not able to broadcast from the roof of the radio station as normal due to icy conditions they did broadcast on Cloquet Avenue, and in 3 hours they raised over $1,200 in cash for the Salvation Army Food Shelf in Cloquet and also brought in about 200 pounds of non-perishable food items.

According to the Salvation Army the amount of money they raised will feed the people of the county for over a month. Needless to say, the Salvation Army was appreciative that the radio station provided this service for the people who are less fortunate in our area.

The mission of this publication is to provide the Anishinaabeg community of the Fond du Lac Band of Lake Superior Chippewa, Fond du Lac Reservation, with news and information that will be of help to them in their everyday lives. In addition, our goal will be to highlight many of the honors, accolades, accomplishments and awards that are earned by community members but are mostly overlooked by the mass mainstream media.

It is our hope that through greater information about the activities of our people, this publication can be an instrument of true community. It is not our intention to be a vehicle of divisiveness. To that end, we do not publish editorials, opinion pieces or letters to the editor. There is an abundance of opportunity for the publishing, airing and dissemination of material of personal opinion in other communication vehicles available throughout the area, region and state.

Our mission is to provide for Fond du Lac Anishinaabeg a publication that will not dismiss their culture, heritage, hopes and dreams. We are striving to make this newspaper fill that role.

Technology at FDLOJS

Charles Hilliard,
eLearning/Technology Coordinator

You may already be aware that each classroom in the school is equipped with a SmartBoard that allows teachers to deliver digital instructional content to our students. Research evidence has demonstrated that this method of delivery serves as an aid to increasing student engagement in the material.

Our high school English classes have started using e-readers in the classroom. The e-readers will eventually replace traditional printed material. This digital tool allows students to interact with text in ways not possible in printed material. For instance, if a student encounters a word that they are unfamiliar with all they need to do is highlight the word and the definition appears on the screen. It is hoped that quick-and-easy-to-use reference tools such as this will increase a student's comprehension of the text.

The elementary grade classrooms have begun working to use the tablet computers as an aid to help students practice basic content skills. What's important to note is that by using the tablets in this manner allows our students to spend some of their instructional time honing their individual skills in content areas where testing data has revealed they may need practice. This method of instruction is aimed at targeting a student's individual learning needs at his or her individual level of skills.

Our plan is to continue to increase the classroom teachers' and students' use of technology for instruction and subsequent learning to the point that it is regarded by both student and teacher as merely another teaching and learning tool no different than chalk and chalkboard. It is our hope that this plan will help our students gain technological soft skills needed in today's digital world.

This summer will see some exciting improvements to the school's website. These improvements will allow the school to easily share more of what's happening at the school with the community. In addition, the website's navigational links will be expanded and simplified so users can gain quick and easy access to the information they are looking for. If you have any suggestions for content you would like to see on our website please feel free to email them to the school's Superintendent Jennifer Johnson at Jennifer.Johnson@fdlrez.com.

RBC Interim Chairman/Secretary Treasurer News

Hello all

Well once again it has been a very interesting month. We held the State of the Band address at the Black Bear Casino Resort Convention Center. We spoke about some of the positive advancement that the Band is involved with as well as offered some plans for the future. We had a fairly good sized crowd in attendance. I would like to thank all that attended.

Our Human Services Division held an informational meeting regarding the Opioid study they have conducted and also talked about the drug problems affecting us here in our community. They provided the audience with some information and also had a question and answer session for community members to participate in. The drug use study that was conducted by our staff had some very astonishing results. That information is available through our Human Services Division and if you are interested in the results please feel free to contact the

Wally Dupuis

Min-No-Aya-Win Clinic.

Our Cloquet Community Center held a 4H Youth Mentor program kickoff event on Mar. 17 allowing a chance to meet the mentors and staff and a lunch was provided. This will provide positive experiences for our youth, as well as provide ongoing activities that our youth can participate in year round.

Our Natural Resources Division is preparing for the spring spearing/netting activities in the ceded territories and have a number of changes that they want Band members to be aware of. Please visit their website for updated information and sign up for email alerts for permit availability. You can also visit our Forestry Division website for sugar bush tapping guidelines if you are interested in sugar bushing.

I would like to congratulate Bruce Savage for being elected to the Sawyer Representative position on the RBC.

As always please feel free to contact me with your question or concerns. Cell (218) 428-9828, Office (218) 879-4789 or email wallydupuis@fdlrez.com

Boozhoo,

The State of the Band address went quite well again this year. The treasurer's report was presented in a different format this year. It was on a power point presentation and I was a little apprehensive with the change, but, it seemed to work fine. As I stated at the end of my report, we are meeting our financial obligations now and will continue for the foreseeable future.

The Ojibwe School basketball team made a run towards the State Class A tournament. They played good ball and are well coached. These boys are amazing to watch.

I normally observe them in the gym or say hi in the halls and see them for what they are in normal life, kids. But when I see them on the court they become a unit that works as one with one goal in mind, to represent the school as best they can. Sometimes that can mean winning a game, but more importantly it shows when they lose. These boys, young men, hold their heads up and show respect to the other team and officials. Good job, you boys should be as proud of yourselves as the community is of you.

The RBC has approved a spring fishing season for 1837 and 1854 ceded territories again this year. Please contact resource management for all the details for the opportunities that will be available for those who want to spear and net this spring. We have declared lakes from the southern boundary of 1837 to the BWCA for Band members to exercise their rights to harvest fish for subsistence. I hope to see you out there.

The "Night at the Bear" for Elders is scheduled for Apr. 12, BBCR. It should be a fun time for all. Doors will open at 4 p.m. with dinner being served at 5 p.m. If you are a Band member 52 or over and interested in participating please contact the host office at the casino. You can bring a guest. The package for participants will be dinner, a room for the evening, $25 in free play, and breakfast in the morning. Again I hope to see you there.

The last thing I would like to make a comment on is the upcoming elections. This election will guide our Reservation for the next few years. I have listened to the candidate's and their platforms for the future direction for our Reservation and will make an informed decision when I cast my ballot in the primary. It is important for all of us to be involved and cast our ballot. I hope I see you there.

If you have any questions or comments please feel free to contact me. My office number is (218)878-8158 or you can e-mail at ferdinandmartineau@fdlrez.com

John Baptiste and Delia (Goslin) Lemieux

Research by Christine Carlson

Wisconsin Historical Collections of 1818-1819 -Agustin Gosselin

Agustin was engaged as a boatman for the American Fur Company at Mackinac in July of 1818. Fond du Lac is noted in the remarks column of this record.

Adelaide Gosselin

Adelaide was the daughter of Augustin Gosselin and Taquasah or Marie Baiaswa Sagi-makwe. They were married at St. Anne's at Mackinac on July 17, 1832. Adelaide was born on May 18, 1832 and baptized in Mackinac on July 12, 1832.

Different First Names

I will give a good example of what I have learned about two names. I saw in the records the name Adelaide Gosselin a couple of times. I thought it was a different person and dismissed it. After looking over the research time and time again, I realized that Delia and Adelaide was the same person. The lesson to be learned is to keep an open mind regarding names when you are searching for relatives. You won't want to miss finding a piece of the puzzle.

Ely Diary in the old Village of Fond du Lac - 1837

Men by the last name of McDonald and Goslin were in Fond du Lac in October 15, 1837. They had just arrived from Sandy Lake. On October 19, 1837 Edward and Goslin left for Encampment Island in the morning.

Treaty of 1842

Number 22 of this treaty is the name of claimant Augustin Goslin and the amount of $169.05 was noted after his name as payment.

Half Breed Script issued on the 1864 Amendments to the

Old Crossing Treaty

Augustine Goslin was given 160 acres which was dated on December 20, 1873.

1888 LaPointe Census

Number 318 is John Lemieux age 60, Delia age 55 and Maggie their daughter 15.

Duluth Tribune of Sept. 2, 1890

John LeMieux will build a three story building 24x75, with stone basement, on lot 6, block 44 Central avenue. A barber shop will occupy the basement, saloon and billiard hall the first floor, and the rest will be used as a hotel. A Rosenberger, an experienced hotel man from St. Paul will run it.

1893 Red Cliff Indian Census

Number 303 is John Lemieux age 65 and Delia his wife age 37.

John Lemieux died in Superior on 12-29-1906 and is buried in Bayfield, Wisconsin

I looked in both the Superior Evening Telegram and the Bayfield newspaper for John's obituary and was unable to find it.

Indian Woman Makes Rugs, Although Blind - Weight of Ninety-two Summers Fails to Keep Her Inactive - Duluth News Tribune 7-23-1916

Although handicapped by total blindness, Mrs. Delia Lemieux an Indian woman of 92 years, continues to weave elaborately-designed and colored rugs while in Superior at the bedside of her sick "children", age 69.

Knots tied into the long strands of colored rags are used by Mrs. Lemieux to measure the quantity of material which must be woven into the rugs. Several of the smaller rugs already have been finished, and although she never will be able to see them, Mrs. Lemieux remarks that "they are nice."

Mrs. Lemieux was born in a wigwam on the shores of Chequamegon bay in 1824. She has lived in that vicinity ever since. Battles of the great tribes of northern Wisconsin and other sections of the northwest are plainly remembered by the aged woman.

She witnessed a clash between the Sioux Indians and the Chippewas in the early days before the Badger state was recognized as more than a wide expanse of territory infested by the nomadic tribes of redskins. In this battle, Mrs. Lemieux said the Sioux warriors crossed Chequamegon bay and attacked the Chippewa braves in their camp.

The Civil war period is brought to mind by Mrs. Lemieux with a succession of events which happened within the bounds of her tribe. A number of years ago her home was burned and she and her husband John Lemieux, who died in Superior in 1906 moved to Bayfield to live. They lived together for 67 years.

Mrs. Lemieux' maiden name was Miss Delia Goosland. She is the mother of 11 children, most of them still living. She has 29 grand-children and 40 great grandchildren.

While her daughter lies ill in St. Mary's hospital, Mrs. Lemieux will remain with friends in the East End. Peter Lemieux, 506 West Sixth street, is a nephew of the aged woman.

1925 Census for Bad River Chippewa

This 1925 Census shows that Delia LeMieux at age 96 died on 3-7-1925.

FDL Language Program growth indicators at all district community centers

Submitted by Janis Fairbanks, Anishinaabemowin Coordinator

There are four recent developments that indicate the growth of the Fond du Lac Language Program, with two projects being planned and developed for 2016.

First, the name of the language program has been changed at the request of the Language Advisory Committee and by RESOLUTION #1077/16 of the Reservation Business Committee on March 2, 2016. The new name is Nagaajiwanaang Genawendangig Anishinaabemowin, meaning “the ones who take care of Anishinaabemowin at Fond du Lac.”

Second, the program has a new logo, designed by Mel Diver, winner of the logo contest. The new name and logo will be used on all future publications of the Fond du Lac Language Program. Congratulations, Mel, the logo looks great!

NAGA AJI WANAANG GENAWENDANGIG ANISHINAABEMOWIN

The third development is the establishment in January of Ojibwe language tables at all three community centers. During the first calendar quarter of 2016, language table instructors included Ricky W. DeFoe, Eunice Lightfeather, Ralph Fairbanks, Rick Gresczyk, Dan Jones, and John Daniel, with Carmen Jones also listed as an on-call sub. A strong roster of available language table instructors gives rise to our ability to gather and present a variety of instructional activities and techniques that benefit language table students. All ages are represented at the tables and attendance is increasing. Dr. Fairbanks received a phone call from Brookston Community Center Manager, Bryan Bosto, reporting that the language table in Brookston has strong attendance, and the evening he observed activities, both youngsters and adults were laughing and enjoying a language based interac-tional game of Ojibwe Trivial Pursuit, created and presented by Eunice Lightfeather.

The fourth development is the ripple effect we are experiencing as we strive to develop cultural and language based activities for the Fond du Lac Community. Interest in events continues to grow, as shown by the March 19 Traditional Teachings: Winter Storytelling event. Spurred by social media, attendance at the event generated interest at 200% of what was expected; we expected 100 guests, but the actual interest level reached 200 individuals, including groups of children. The plans to add a Sacred Fire to the one-day event drew comments from community members expressing appreciation for the presence of this traditional element of the Anishinaabeg being made available to them. The event was co-sponsored by Cloquet Community Center, with Manager, Donna Ennis arranging and providing the traditional feast. We are hoping to hold similar events at both the Brookston and Sawyer Community Centers in the future.

The two projects being planned and developed for 2016 are 1) the Summer Language Camp at the Kiwenz Campgrounds at the end of July, and 2) a series of recorded Ojibwe dialogues that will be made into DVD's for language table and community use in learning to speak Ojibwe. An event to show-

Health News

April is Testicular Cancer Awareness Month

Testicular cancer is the most common cancer in American males between the ages of 15 and 35. Testicular cancer accounts for approximately 1% of all cancers in men. Testicular cancer is rare and it usually affects only one testicle. However, it is highly treatable, even when the cancer has spread beyond the testicle. Regular testicular self-examinations can help identify growths early and increase the chances for successful treatment of testicular cancer if identified.

Risk factors for testicular cancer can include: race, age, an undescended testicle, family history of testicular cancer, HIV infection, abnormal testicle development, personal history of testicular cancer, carcinoma in situ (abnormal cells in the testicle which have not yet progressed to cancer) and body size (some studies suggest taller males are at a greater risk).

Remember to always talk with your Healthcare provider about any concerns you have.

The Making of a Salad

By Kara Stoneburner, RDL, Public Health Dietitian

Adding more fruits and vegetables to our diet is a great way to improve nutrition. Fruits and vegetables are rich in fiber, vitamins and minerals. They are low in calories and usually fat-free. Eating more fruits and vegetables can reduce the risk for several diseases such as heart disease, cancer, and obesity.

Take every eating opportunity as a chance to increase fruits and vegetables. Eating yogurt? Throw some fruit in it! Having soup for dinner? Add a half a bag of frozen mixed veggies! Need an afternoon snack? How about fresh veggies and dip? These are only a few, simple ways to increase fruits and vegetables daily.

Another way to increase fruits and vegetables is to build your own salad. Below, you will find a list of foods to pick from (complete list is found at eatright.org: Food, Nutrition and Health Tips from the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics).

Take the list to the grocery store and start shopping. Feel free to choose more than one option and add your favorite if not listed. Don't forget to let the kids pick their favorite items too.

Step 1: Start with the leafy greens. Leafy greens can include:

- Arugula
- Bibb lettuce
- Green or red leaf lettuce

- Iceberg lettuce
- Mixed greens
- Napa cabbage
- Romaine
- Spinach

Step 2: Add the other ingredients:

- Bean sprouts
- Beets
- Bell peppers
- Bok choy
- Broccoli or cauliflower
- Carrots
- Celery
- Corn
- Cucumbers
- Onions
- Peas
- Tomatoes
- Zucchini
- Dried cranberries or raisins
- Apple chunks
- Grapes
- Mandarin oranges
- Strawberries
- Chickpeas
- Edamame
- Navy bean

Step 3: Add a small amount of "the extras" if desired:

- Cheese- cheddar, mozzarella, feta, parmesan
- Nuts- almonds cashews, pecans, walnuts
- Other- avocado, bacon bits, croutons, olives, sunflower seeds

Step 4: If using your salad as a main dish, pick a protein source:

- Beef
- Chicken
- Ham
- Hard-cooked egg
- Salmon
- Shrimp
- Tofu
- Tuna
- Turkey

Step 5: At home, prepare the ingredients by washing, cutting, chopping, peeling, slicing and dicing, as desired. (Don't forget to cook the protein source, as appropriate). Mix all ingredients in a bowl, add a light dressing and gently toss.

Enjoy your salad! Next time be adventurous and try different combinations!

Ma'iinganag Research on the FDL Reservation

Mike Schrage,
Wildlife Biologist

The Resource Management Division worked closely with the Minnesota DNR to capture wolves on and around the Fond du Lac Reservation this past winter. The purpose of this effort has been to gather information on the number and movements of local wolves, causes of mortality, and reproduction. DNR biologists use average pack and territory size from collared wolves at FDL and from elsewhere around the State to estimate the statewide wolf population each year. Resource Management can learn more about how many wolves are using the Reservation, where they travel and what happens to them from this research. The collars we placed on the wolves are programmed to record a location every 4 hours using satellites in the Global Positioning System (GPS) and then transmit the locations back to the biologists. The batteries are expected to last for 88 weeks at which time we plan to remotely break the collars off the wolves so we can recover them.

Trapping efforts started in early December and lasted through mid-January. Wolves were baited into a location using beaver and deer carcasses, and then snares were set on their travel routes. The snares were fitted with a stop to allow the cable to snug down around the neck, but not tighten too much. Once snares were set, they were checked every morning. We managed to capture and collar 5 wolves in 4 different packs. Once captured, each wolf was sedated, fitted with a collar, ear tagged, weighed, and measured. Then the sedative was reversed and the wolf got up and ran off. Each workup took about half an hour. Natural Resource technicians Lance Overland, Terry Perrault, and John Goodreau worked closely with two DNR trappers in the effort. Since captures concluded, division staff has been using trail cameras supplemented with observations from a tracking plane to try and get estimates of pack numbers.

Wolf 2505 was our first capture. She was a yearling female that weighed 68 lbs at her capture on Jan. 3. From both aerial and camera photos she appeared to be traveling with one other wolf. She was part of what is labeled the Ditchbanks Pair in pink on the map. Unlike the collared wolves in the other 3 packs which don't seem to cross major roads very often, wolf 2505 regularly crossed Hwy 73 north of Cromwell. In addition to her regular movements inside her territory, she went south and west of Cromwell and northwest of Prairie Lake a couple of times as well. These looked like exploratory movements as they only lasted a day or two before she turned around and came back.

Wolf 2505 was also our first mortality of this season. She was found dead on Mar. 15 south of Prairie Lake with 4 feet of broken snare cable around her neck. It had slowly tightened until she choked to death. Coyotes can be taken year round, and it's likely she encountered a snare set for them. The local DNR warden is investigating. Although they are protected from hunting and trapping, research using collared wolves in Minnesota shows that human related factors are still a leading cause of death amongst wolves.

Wolves 2519 (58 lbs at capture) and 2521 (65 lbs) are also yearling females captured on Jan. 8 at the same location. Usually, they travel together and as they are the same age, they are almost certainly sisters. They are part of the Deadfish Pack shown in orange on the map. From aerial observation and trail camera photos there appear to be 6 wolves in the Deadfish Pack. Wolf 2517 is another yearling female captured on Jan. 9 weighing 63 lbs. She's a member of the Marshall Pack shown in green. An evening trail camera photo showed 6 members of this pack. Of all of the wolves we're tracking, the Marshall Pack is the most willing to show themselves at our camera sites during the daylight hours.

The last capture was wolf 2507 on Jan. 16. She appears to be about 2 years old and weighed 71 lbs at capture. She is a member of the Gist Pack shown in blue. Based on track counts, there appear to be at least 5 members of the Gist Pack. Wolf 2507 hadn't ever had puppies when she was caught, so she's either about to take her turn as the Gist Pack's alpha female or she's likely to strike out on her own and establish a new territory with another wolf or wolves somewhere else. In late February and early March she made two separate movements south of Big Lake Road, across the Cloquet Forestry Center and into the woods between the airport and Moorhead Road. Each trip lasted 2 days before she came back north of Big Lake Road.

Twin Lakes Drive appears to serve as the clear border between the territories of the Deadfish, Marshall and Gist Packs. Only wolf 2507 from the Gist Pack has crossed Twin Lakes Drive so far, and she's only done it a few times, and for very short periods of time. Other natural and man-made features such as Hwy 2 and 210 and the St. Louis River are also pretty clear territory boundaries. So far there's been very little trespassing by the collared wolves into one another's territory. In addition to the packs where we have collared animals, there are other wolves out there too using the Reservation. The Cloquet Forestry Center has video of at least a pair of wolves using their property who don't appear to be part of a collared pack. Other wolf signs are regularly noted north of Hwy 2 and along the river near Brookston.

Wolf numbers are at about their lowest in mid-winter, but their numbers will roughly double when pups are born in April. The alpha females will start using the den sites beginning in late March. The Resource Management Division will continue with the tracking and monitoring of Fond du Lac's wolves for as long as we can to learn more about where they go and what happens to them. Our tentative plans are to try and replace any lost collars with new ones if necessary in the same packs next winter or next summer or try to collar wolves from new areas.

Shall earth no more inspire thee?
 By Emily Brontë
Shall earth no more inspire thee?
 Thou lonely dreamer now?
 Since passion may not fire thee
 Shall Nature cease to bow?
 Thy mind is ever moving
 In regions dark to thee;
 Recall its useless roving—
 Come back and dwell with me.
 I know my mountain breezes
 Enchant and soothe thee still—
 I know my sunshine pleases
 Despite thy wayward will.
 When day with evening blending
 Sinks from the summer sky,
 I've seen thy spirit bending
 In fond idolatry.
 I've watched thee every hour;
 I know my mighty sway,
 I know my magic power
 To drive thy grief's away.
 Few hearts to mortals given
 On earth so wildly pine;
 Yet none would ask a heaven
 More like this earth than thine.
 Then let my winds caress thee;
 Thy comrade let me be—
 Since naught beside can bless thee,
 Return and dwell with me.

Judy was an Eau Claire native, born at Luther Hospital on Jan. 23, 1949 to Edward and Margaret (Hanson) Ojibway.

Judy was a proud single mother. Her main priority in life was to provide care for herself and her daughter, Loren. After several years serving Chippewa County Schools in an administrative capacity at CESA-6, she made the difficult decision to leave a job she felt fell short of her expectations for financial security to pursue non-traditional employment. She worked first with the State of Wisconsin as a flag girl and later advanced into planning and construction of roads and bridges. She was later hired by Northern States Power Company, cum "Excel Energy", Gas Department. There, she enjoyed a lengthy, successful career. She was featured in a number of long running promotional radio and television spots highlighting services she provided as an NSP line woman. She was proud of her work, well liked by co-workers and the public she served. Whenever possible, she mentored women with similar aspirations as she felt it important to help them preserve their economic independence even if it meant shedding the auspices of traditionally gendered employment. She remained at her job with Excel until Dec. 31, 2014. She enjoyed retirement and stayed positive, well humored, and thankful even in the face of a terminal cancer diagnosis in May 2015.

Those who knew Judy described her as always having a smile and as a charitable, kind person; she met life's challenges with grace and dignity. She was unafraid of hard work, undaunted in many cases to be the only woman in the department, on the job, or part of a crew. Her daughter was the light of her life and she raised her to value choice and education. She celebrated her daughter's successes and those of her son-in-law, Richard, whom she held in great affection. She took great joy in the companionship of her Yorkshire terrier, Bailey, who remained by her side until her last day.

She is survived by her daughter Loren (Richard) Bennesch, both of Lawrence, KS as well as siblings Nancy Ojibway, Dawn (Dick) Mrozinski, David (Brenda) Ojibway, Terry (Mary) Ojibway, Dale (Brenda) Ojibway, Daniel (Debbie) Ojibway and a number of nieces, nephews, cousins, and friends. She was preceded in death by her parents, and brothers Michael, Timothy, Larry, Steven, Jeffrey Ojibway, and sisters-in-law, Carolyn and Deb Ojibway.

Judy wished her gratitude extended to the women in her family and her close friends whose work as carers is often not acknowledged, but was immensely appreciated. In the hands of these women, she was able to preserve her life on her terms until the end.

The family thanks Dr. Sandeep Basu, Dr. Zachary Wilson, and staffs of Mayo Clinic Health System Cancer Center and Clinical Research Department for their compassionate care, kind words, and constant support throughout Judy's journey.
